The long lean figure erected liseif in the chair, and the weight seemed to slip from its shoulders.

But I understood you to say that the duties of the executive had devolved upon me, Mr. Kent. You also said I could imagine the result of this singular mistaking of train-orders, and I fancied I could. What was the result?"

"A conclusion not quite as aanguinary as that you had in mind, though it is likely to prove serious enough for one member of the party in the private car. The special train was chased all the way across the state hy the fast mail. It finally outran the pursuing section and was stopped at Megitp. A sheriff's posse was in waiting, and an arrest was made."

"Go on." anid the fleutenant-governor.

"I must first go back a little. Some weeks ago there was a shooting affray in the mining-camp, arising out of a dispute over a 'safted' mine, and a man was killed. The lieutenant-governor read the newspaper story as he walked, lighting the electric chandetter to enable him to do so. When it was finished he sat down again.

"What a hideons cesspool it ls!" was his comment. "But we shall clean It, Mr. Kent; we shall clean It if It shall leave the party without a vote in the state. Now what can I do for You didn't come hero at this hour in the morning merely to hring me the news."

"No. I didn't, Judge Marston, I want my railroad."

"You shall have it," was the prompt response. "What have you done since our last discussion of the subject?"

"I tried to 'ohliterate' Judge Mac-Fariane, as you suggested. But I falled in the first step. Bucks and Melgs refused to approve the quo war-

Kent hesitated, not because he was afraid to trust the man Oliver Marston, but because there were some things which the governor of the state might fect called upon to investigate if the knowledge of them were thrust upon him. But in the end he took counsel of utter frankness.

"So nearly that if Bucks and the rereiver had reached Gaston last night. our road would now be in the hands of the Plantagoulds under a 90-year lease."

The merest ghost of a smile flitted over the lieutenant governor's face all day.' when he said, with his nearest approach to sarcasm:

Come to the cap-Itol a little fater in the day, prepared to go at once to Gaston. I think I can promise you your hearing on the mer-Ite without further delay."

"Thank you," said Kent, simply, grasping the hand of leave-taking. Then he tried to find other and larger words. "I wish I could do something to ahow my appreciation of your-" But the lieutenant governor was

It took the general manager a wakeful 24 hours to untangle the industrial snarl which was the receiver's legacy to his successor; and David Kent slept through the major part of that interval, rising only in time to dress for dinner on the day following the retrieval of the Trans-Western,

In the grill-room of the Camelot he came face to faco with Ormshy, and learned, something to his astonishment, that the Breezeland party had returned to the capital on the first train in from the west.

"I thought you were going to stay a month or more," he said, with his eyes cast down. "So did I," said Ormshy. "But Mrs. Brentwood cut it short. She'a a town person, and so is Penelope." And it was not until the soup plates had been removed that he added a question. "Are you going out to see them this evening. David? You have my royal permission.

"No"-bluntly. "isn't it up to you to go and give hem a chance to joily you a little? I think they are all aching to do it. Mrs. Hepzihab has seen the rising stock quotations, and she thinks you

"Why not?" "There were good reasons before; there are better ones now." "A $700,000 difference?" suggested

Ormshy, who had had speech with Loring Kent flushed a duit red

"I sha'n't strike you, Ormshy, no matter what you say," he said, doggedly. "Humph! There is one difference between you and Rahhi Balaam's hurro, David; It could talk sense, and you can't," was the offensive rejoinder. Kent changed the subject abruptly. "Say, Ormshy; I'm going into a political office-hunt. There is a death vacancy in the house, and I mean to have the nomination and election. I don't need money now, but I do need a friend. Are you with me?" "Oh, sure. Miss Van Brock will an-

"I am glad if it amuses you," he frowned. "Only I meant it in all serlousness."

"No, you didn't; you only thought you did," she contradicted, and the brown eyes were stiff laughing at him. 'Let me tell you what you did mean. The Bishop's liumor. During a recent visit to a western city, says the New York Heraid, Bishop Potter was entertained several days in the home of a prominent churchman. Ilis room was prepared and garlanded for the occasion, and among other details his hostess arranged upon the dressing table an elaborate affver toilet set. The hishop on seeing it carefully transferred it to a drawer, replacing it with his own set. The divine's visit over, the hostess went to the room and was dismayed to find her silver missing. She searched everywhere in vain and questioned the servants to no purpose. Finally she summoned up courage to write a very apologetic letter to the bishop, asking if hy any chance he had found any of the articles among his luggage. There was an immediate and characteristic reply. The telegram read as follows: "Poor, but honeat. Look in the washatand drawer."

The auto may wia fresh trlumphs. An enthusiastic motorist won some fame recently by making a tour which carried him well up toward the frozen north, and now Heary Arctowsky, an Antarctic explorer, bas invented an automobile to be mounted on runners by which he believes he ean reach the South Pole more easily than by any other means. Perhaps Peary, la his search for the North Pole, may yet have to substitute the auto for the dogs which he hitherto has used for transportation and food purposes.

Responsibility of Jublic Schools to Children

By THOMAS P. HARRINGTON, M. D.

HE unprecedented activity to-day in photanthropic, charitable and social policies finds its expression in the home-school alliance in medical inspection, in school nurses, in feeding school children, and in the care of the abnormal child. Each of these functions belongs to the home. Is the school then an usurper when it attempts to fulfill any or all of these duties?

As physicians, we know that mental and physical defects among school children exist to a surprising extent, that many of these defects are remediable with a great gain to the child, that underfeeding is more prevalent than is supposed, that many of these poorly fed children could overcome the handicap of a bad start if boldily untrition was kept somewhere near actual requirements. No remedy can be most effective until the cause of the evil is known.

These causes exist in both the school life and the home life of the child. At home we find the materialistic influences of modern social life, the indifference or neglect of guardians, the disregard for rightful authority. the results of genuine poverty, and finally the impossibility for the home to keep in touch with the school.

Causes inherent in the school are the multiplication of the branches taught the absence of individualization, the lack of data whereby the relative physical and mental development of each child is known, the grading system, and lastly the absence of any connecting link between the home and

Any measures to correct or minimize the evils in school enrricula are obviously within the rights of the school-in fact it is a duty. When, however, the school points out the defects of individual pupils, groups of pupils, or in the home lite of such, it has gone as far as moral or legal right allows. To attempt to carry out by force the measures of relief suggested, no matter | tion of $15,000,000,000 a year; with

It is possible, nevertheless, to carry instruction and persuasion into homes where force and coercion would not be tolerated, and where example higher by far than that of any other and precept can accomplish incalculable good for the home, the school, the individual and the state. Nurses under school supervision only can do this without the usurpation of the home, or the manufacture of pattpers. To develop and strengthen

Why Married Women Should Not Teach

By DR. WILLIAM J. GALLIVAN, Ex-President of Boston School Committee.

There are strong reasons why married women should not be employed as teachers in the public schools. One might cite President Roosevelt's admonitions concerning "race suicide" as perhaps the chief reason.

The woman who marries becomes at once bound to an obligation greater than any other. Her paramount, her all-important duty is to her home. It is the first duty which she must consider, and it takes precedence of all other considera- | thorough and careful consideration, tions. Marriage as a kind of agreeable comradeship, involving few or no demestic responsibilities other than those which hired service might render is no marriage at all.

It is absurd for any woman who marries and contemplates the rearing of a family to hope to engage in employment so exacting us that of a teacher in the public schools without sacrificing the interests of the home. the Kaasas City Star, a protection Indeed, it may be said that a married woman cannot possibly be a good wife and mother and a good teacher in the public schools at the same time. She will be deficit in one regard or the other. To the statement that some women marry with no expectation wealth which is wholly functive. The of discontinuing employment or of assuming the duties and responsibilities which have been mentioned, I think the answer may be made that such women ought not to be intrusted with the education of

WRITES ON TARIFF

LOA M. TARBELL BEGINS SERIES OF ARTICLES.

Worth That the Work Might Have Promises to Be Marred by Spirit of Hostility-Careless Handling of Facts.

We observe with interest the teginaing of a series of articles in the American Mugazine by Miss ida M Turbell, entitled "The Tariff in Our author "will attempt to make this most difficult of subjects absolutely understandable and entertaining to hundreds of thousands of readers who have realized lis importance without naderstanding its meaning." there are many hundreds of thousands of such persons is not to be doubted. Whether they will all, or nay very large portion of them, be persuaded to read the serial production just referred to, is, perhaps, aaother question.

ont with the advantage of having aiready obtained a wide public hearing by means of the "illstory of the Standard Oil Company" Will she succeed in securing an equality large reading constituency for her bistory of the tariff?

Much depends upon the kind of history that shall be written. There are histories and histories. in her story of the Standard Oli Miss Tarbell was dealing with a single institution, with only one industrial caterprise, in writing of the tariff her scope must be enernicusly enlarged Now she is dealing with all industries; with a total ladustrial producwages earned by, paid to, and again spent by more than 10,000,000 people; with the American standard of living. people ever known in the world's history, with a condition of national prosperity so amazing as to excite universal astoalshment and envy; with the material welfare of 85,000, 000 nich, women and children. It is a stupendons proposition. How will the lady deal with It?

The answer is suggested by the opening chapter of Miss Tarbeit's his-The words "press tory of "The Taria of Our Times" agent" call to mind a We find, first of all, a spirit of hosparticularly energetic, iff system. Miss Turbell insists that the canic of 1857 was in no way influenced by free trade tariff legislation, but she does not explain how it was that a country blessed with abundant cross tion its career up to that time could be idunged into flaancial rula. its banks wrecked, its industries parcondition of want and suffering brought on without the greatly reduced tariff and the greatly iacreased inflow of foreign manufactures having maything to do with the

There are peculiarliles in the story which relate to the question as to what kind of tariff bistory Miss Tarbell has undertaken to write, and how well equipped she is for the task. Judgment on the question may be suspeaded for later lastailmeats. For the present it is enough to say that the lady seems to have started out on an attack on the system of protectlon very much as she attacked the Standard Oll. Evidences abound of iack of studious preparation, of unripeness, of careless handling of facts and conclusions. The article would have been better for a more and, one is tempted to suggest, for a more active employment of the editorial bine peach.

The free traders have an entirely different theory. they could they would abolish all tax on imports except port and lighthouse ducs. Itut they also are constrained by the necessity of revenue and recogmize that there must be a tariff law In framing it, however, they would levy duties, so far as possible, on commodities which we cannot or do not produce and, therefore, must import. A TEMPERANCE WAVE.

Reform Movement Noted in England, Germany and America.

The comforting belief that the world is growing better, or at least more temperate, has much to somtain For one thing, there comes from England, which has been Imagemorialv a beer drinking country, the report that the people of King Edward's realm are drinking proportionately less nicoholic liquor than formerly Statistics are dry, even when applied to such a subject as the irrigating habits of a molea; yet they have their uses, and in this connection they may be cited to prove the liritish growth in temperance. The figures show that during the last six years, while the population of the I'nited Kingdom increased 2,000,000, the annual coasumption of beer fell off about 2,500,-000 gailons. That is remarkable in view of the part beer drinking has played in English life for generations it is almost impossible for the reader of English literature to coaceive of the average Uriton as other than an imbiber of alcoholic itquors in some form. The stories of Dickens, pre-emiaently the portrayer of Euglisic life in all its phases, present the brandy bottle, the wlae glass and the beer mug at every turn, and no officer writer has so giorified couvivial habits. The liquor lasne has often figured in politics, and there is at least a tradition that one of the thad stone cabluets was thrown out of pow er because it increased the tax on the poor man's beer " It looks as though a great chaage has come. The failing off in the consumption of beer is so less remarkable than the decline in the use of spirits, the side of which in England is said to have de

Among the 100,904 brewers and multsters of Germany there were 11,968 accidents, or 18.6 per thousand. This is a higher average than in any other trade, even the most perlions, and gives point, as Prof. Guttstudi remarks, to the grim jest which ascribes to these men the same of "bler telche" (beer corpses), it is accounted for by the fact that six to eight litres of free beer daily are allowed all the hands.

Gen. Grant saya that 90 per cent. of the troubles in the army are dueto whisky. Human nature seems to bo the same in the army as elseGOOD ROADS.

Progress Which the Movement is Making Throughout the Country.

Throughout the country, especially in rural districts, the demand for information as to the best methods of road construction is steadily growing, where people are willing to expend money on mending their idehwnys. Owing to inexperience and lack of organization, money is frequently wasted. In some countles well able to support a system of good roads, little work is done owing to lack of knowiedge. It is in just such cases that the work of the office of public roads is proving of signal value. The department does not undertake the construction of roads, which can be and should be the work of counties within the states, but the educational value of employing experts in the construction of sections of improved roads in different parts of the country has been fully demonstrated, says the Journal of Agriculture. Expert advice on road construction has been given and exparlaiental field work carried on, and, wherever possible, object lesson roads are being constructed for the purpose of lliustrating the best methods of road building. The local authorities furnish material, common lidor, teams and fuel, the office of public roads supplying supervising engineers and, in some cases, part or all of the machinery. During the past year 17 roads were bullt in il states, representing a wide diversity in character of construction and kinds of material used. Much has been done by the office in developing the use of sand cisy and burnt clay for roads in areas of the country where no stone is available.

Methods of rendering roads dustiess have been investigated. Tests were aiso made with Texas oil and its effect on earth and macadam roads. After more than seven months tarred roads were found in excellent condition.

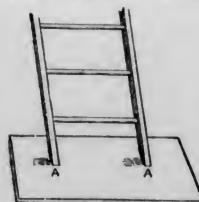

Co-operation with the pastoffice department has been begun, in order to facilitate rural delivery by improvement of country roads. The plan, approved by the secretary of agriculfure and the postmaster general, provides that when a road upon widch a rural route has been or is about to be established is reported by the carrier or inspector to be impassable or inbad repair, the office of jublic roads shall be at once advised of the fact through the postumee, and an engineer inspector will be detailed to examine it Can Be Raised Up Above the the road and give necessary advice to the local officials. During the year 384 samples were received at the road isboratory for reactine tests, of which number 273 were samples of rock intended for macadam road building. Studies of the decomposition of various kinds of rock under the action of water, undertaken to determine reasons for the quality of binding power in macadam-road materiais, has brought to light some lateresting facts.

TO FARM SUCCESSFULLY.

Observation and Forethought Are Absolutely Necessary.

A man to be a successful farmet nust be a close abserver, must have practicid education and understand that to keep out the fertility of his soil be must study the nature of it and know what crops to plant on different fields. The fariaer should first plan his work ahead. It is then accessary for him to personally oversee It. I know, writes a correspondent of Farmera' Review, from three to five years whead what crop I nm going to put in certain fields. I believe in alternating crops. For instance, i first put in corn, tien some smidi grain, then clover, or pasture, and so on i never awaken in the morning not knowing what I am going to do that day, wenther permitting. I have my work planned days and somethmes weeks nhead.

When I am doing my spring plowing I invariably have a load of manure sent to the field with each team. tience, as i say, we must feed the soil, else it won't feed us. On accoung up the fertility depends the success or fallure of agriculture. The successful farmer must be a thinker. The time is past for haphazard forming Some furmers laugh at science in farming, but how many thousands upon thousands of dollars are farmers throwing awny year after year, simply because they do not know whether they are or are not buying and feeding their soli with the properties it aceds. My observation is that the average farmer plows too much and sells too muchsimply sells his farm by piecemeals.

Some will say that they have not the land to rotate or keep stock. Better leave one acre that will make 80 bushels of corn than four that make 20. Wley? Recause it can be done with one-quarter the work. it is also advisable to keep the better grade of stock rather than scrubs. Feed the largest portion of your grain and hay on your farm and return it in the way of manure to your land. Avoid throwing it out in the drip of the barn. Let it lie till plowing time. Cover one acre two years in succession and you will undoubtedly make more on that acre than you would on four without the manure.

Make it a point to attend every meeting of your Grange. I'ut in part of your time in cleaning up your fence rows and make it a point to have a aice, shady lawn, endeavoring to nake your home the most attractive in your neighborhood. Your friends, your families and yourselves will there have solved the problem of how to keep the boys on the farm.

BOWLING IS STRENUCUS WORK

in Fifty Games a Man Lifts a Total of Six Tons.

Borlets declare that It is a more severe physical strain to bowl fifty games than to play one game of foothali. it does not seem as hard, 62 course, to shoot bails down an nlley as to tackle 200 pounds of live beef, but it is the game thut makes the work easier and the results far more entisfactory.

The fifty games to be rolled is equal to 500 frames or lnnings for each bowler. In this number of frames, not figuring the added halis for strikes In every tenth, there would probably be an average of 160 strikes. For strikes the bowling ball is hundled once, and for the 300 spares twice, a total of 840 times that the ball is sent down the alicys.

A regniation bowling bail weighs 16 pounds. When hundled 840 times the total weight is 13,440 pounds, or more than six tons.

The time in which the 50-game match is to be played is variously estimated at from six to eight hours. Figured at seven hours, which is about the maximum and conservative estimate, it will be seen that the bowlis handle the weight of nearly seven tons at the rate of a ton an hour, or more than 300 pounds every minute. The runway over which the bowler moves to the foul line is nearly 20 feet in length, and the 840 times In which each delivers the bail makes a total of nearly 17,000 feet. To this must be added the further distance to the ball rack, to the scats of the players and possibly to the mahogany -for bowiers have been known to crook an elbow for other things than delivering n bail-adding enough in distance to make a grand total of more than five miles of pedestrian work la the seven hours oa the alleys.

What Were Life Without its Dreams? Expenses, Regulations, Opening Days.

Berea College is not a money-making institution. All the money received from students is paid out for their benefit, and the School expends on an average upon each student about fifty dollars a year more than he pays in. This great deficit is made up by the gifts of Christian and patriotic people who are supporting Berea in order that it may train young men and women for lives of usefulness.

OUR SCHOOL IS LIKE A FAMILY, with careful regulations to protect the character and reputation of the young people. Our students come from the best families and are carnest to do well and improve. For any who may be sick the College provides doctor and nurse without extra

All except those with parents in Berea live in College buildings, and assist in work of boarding hull, furm and shops, receiving valuable training, and getting pay according to the value of their labor. Except in winter it is expected that all will have a chance to earn as much as 35 cents a week. Some who need to earn more may, by writing to the Secretary before coming, secure extra employment so as to earn from 50 ecuts to one dollar n week.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for clothing, laundry, vary with different people. Berea favors plain clothing. Our climate is the best, but as students must attend classes regardless of the weather, warm wraps and underclothing, umbrellas and overshoes, are necessary. The Co-operative Store furnishes books, toilet articles, work uniforms, umbrellas and other necessary articles at cost.

Living Expenses are really below cost. The College saks no rent for the fine buildings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for eleaning, repairs, fuel, lights, and washing of bedding and towels. For table board, without coffee or extras, $1.35 a week in the fall, and $1.50 in winter. For room, furnished, fuel, lights, washing of bedding, 40 cents a week in fall and spring. 50 cents in winter.

School Fees are two. First a "Dollar Deposit," as guarantee for return of room key, library books, etc. This is paid but once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "Incidental Fee" to help on expenses for care of school buildings, hospital, library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or services of teachers-all our instruction is a free gift). The Incidental Fee for most students is $5.00 a term ($4.00 in lower Model Schools, $6.00 in courses with Latin, and $7.00 in Collegiate courses). Payment must be in advance, incidental fee and room rent by the

Kentucky's Burden

From The Eastern Kentneky Review. In 1900, 128 native whites in every thousand in Keutucky, ten years of age or over were unable to read or write; 401 uegroes in every thousand were in the same condition. Possibly in six years since the last ceasus was taken we have gained a half dozen in the thousand in the whites, and a half or two-thirds as many among the negroes.

In addition to diminishing the earning value of all property, illiteracy also increases the tax rate on all productive property. Alms houses, asylums for the insaue and the feeble-minded, jails, work houses and State prisons are expensive and produce nothing. They must be built and maintained by taxation. The majority of their innutes are illiterates, and people with money must pay for their segregation and maiatenance.

There are pauper counties in Kentucky-that is, counties which pay less into the State treasury than they take out to pay juries, prosecuting attorneys, court fees, etc., and such counties have poorer school houses and more illiterates than the counties whose wealth carries the burden.

Kentucky,s illiteracy is expensive, unproductive, burdensome and dangerous. Why not wipe it out?

HEAVY COAT SAVED HER LIFE.

Professor Garman and Wife Are Attacked By Former inmate of an Asylum.

Laporte, Ind. Jan. 3 .- A narrow escape from death had the wife of Prof. Harry O. Garman, who, before her marriage, was Miss Ethel Hanly, daughter of J. Frank lianly, governor of Indiana. Her justiand is a son of former State Representative Noah Garman, and he is an instructor at l'urdue

While driving in a carriage with her husband, father-in-law and H. A. Garman, the latter's brother, William Coe, who is slieged to be insane, emptied the contents of a shotgun at the party.

That none of the party was serious ly injured was due to the fact that Coe was about 150 feet away from the carriage when he shot, and because all wore heavy wraps. The ahot plerced the outer garments of the men, but the greater part of the load was received by the governor's daughter, who was nearest Coe. However, it only pene trated her fur coat and drew no blood.

The Garmans had attended a house party at the Garman country home, north of Laporte, over New Yesr's. The men at the house, including Rev. Reeder, Methodist minister of Rolling Prairie, went rabbit hunting. In the course of their wanderings they encountered William Coe, whose farm adjoins the Garman broad acres.

Coe's tesm acted unruly and he claimed the shooting of the members of the hunting party had frightened his animais. He vowed he would get men, a negro train porter and about '82 Mexican laborers lost their lives and 55 persons were injured when two passenger trains on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad collided headon, four miles west of Volland, Kan.

All but three of those who perished are thought to have been Mexican laborers. The officials of the company place the blame on John Lynes, a 19year-old telegraph operator at Volland, who falled to stop Train No. 29 after receiving orders to hold it until No.

By the light of the flaming wreckage passengers who were uninjured worked herolcally to save those who were pinned fast beneath the splinterad timbers and twisted from work.

BOMB HUBLED AT BANK CASHIER.

SY CRANK WHO DEMANDS MONEY -KILLS 3 AND MAIMS 17.

Varise Packed With Explosives Found Showed That Bomb Thrower Was Expert.

ritiladelphia, Pa., Jan. 5.-Three persons were killed and 17 injured by a bomb thrown in the Fourth Street Natlonal bank.

The bomb thrower, who has been identified as itolia Steele, was blown to pleces. The identification is doubtful, as it was made by a bunch of keys he carried.

The attack followed the refusal of the president of the bank, Richard H. Rushton, to give the man $5,000. In many respects it was identical to tho demand made by the bomb thrower Norcross, who attempted to end the life of Itussell Sage, and who was himself killed 15 years ago.

The greatest excitement followed the explosion. The bank building was partly demolished and at first It was thought the list of dead would reach The awful concussion was felt for blocks, and it was believed that the building had been dynamited or that a boller had exploded.

That the president of the hank was not killed was due to the fact that when the man came in to him he believed he was a crank and temporized with him. The stranger was assured that the cashler was the man to see. Whether Steele made any demand of the cashier will never he known. The cashier was killed instantly and Crunio, who was nearest to him, never recovered consciousness sufficiently to say whether any talk took place between Mclear and the bomb thrower.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—After 25 hours of rigid search Director of Public Safety McKelly and Capt, of Detectives Donaghy announced that they had made positive the identification of the man who threw the both In the Fourth Street National bank. He is Rolla steele, whose family lives in Chicago. The washout at Ledwidge, 30 by ranchers to watch for bodies that Ills name was found upon portlons of the clothing in his room at the New Grant hotel, st Eighth and Spring Garlen streets, where he registered on Friday as R. in the room was a store of weapons dynamito fuses, electric fuses, eart idges and a general outfit, which convinced the police that the bomb thrower was not a weak-minded erank, but Island, near Honolulu. This was his a determined man, who came to this city with the definite intention of robbing a bank

Captain of Detectives Donaghy, however, thinks the chances are that Steele intended to operate by himself, tossing the homb far from him and working during the excitement that was sure to follow. That he was an expert in the use of explosives was proven by the contents of his grlp, discovered at the hotel. Besidea articles of clothing showing that Steele must have been well over slx feet in height. the grlp contained one revolver, a box of cartridges, four yards of dynamito horror, the full extent of which is yet fuse, six long electric fuses, with londed caps, ball of waxed cord, two flies, Washington, Jan. 4.—After two Lowell, when a large magazine ex- nippers, wax, package of uncharged

Netting and How You Can Make It

Netting is an art easily acquired, | mesh and so on in proportion, and is a pleasant pastime for both exes, the greatest difficulty being to ear oneself away from the fascination of the work once the stitch has been earned. There is just enough movenent to provent your feeling wholly dle, leaving the thoughts to wander over the coning summer season when your hammock or tennis net will be out out. Besides, it lends an addiional charm to those sought-after obects, to know that they are the weavng of your own hand, saya the Montreal Herald. It may be too early to start making summer articles, but there are still things such as fishing acis, chair seats, and the like, which msy he made for immediate use.

To those who are desirous of startng, the first thing to ho done is to obtain the netting instruments. These mesh stick. The needle should be from seven to ten luches long and one inch wide, while the size of the mesh that the mesh stick will make a mesh inch square will make a one-inch a knot like one shown in figure four.

Any youth at all bandy will be ahle to make these instruments for himself. and then the msterial having been procured, work may be begun at once. To wind the cord on your needte put it over the point in the eye on one side, then down under the curve, and up around the point on the other side again. Fill it just enough to keep from alipping off. Tie the end of the cord to a hook screwed la the wail or to anything convenient, make a loop two or three luches from the end, and you are ready to begin the stitch (Fig. 2).

The stitch consists of two movements, the first to throw the cord around the mesh atick, and putting the needle through the loop you tied. the second to throw the cord to the left, so forming a loop, after running latter consist of a needle (Fig. 1) and the needle under the mesh in the same direction. (Fig. 3.) When you have made it aa wide as you wish, put a string through all the holes and fasstick must be regulated by the fact ten it to a hook. In the other rows you can keep the loops on the stick twice its own size, thus a stick half an all the way across. For fastening, tie

A COLLEGE PRODIGY.

An Appeal to Young Men.

By Herman Metculf Young man, be a geu ieman. It is just as easy as being a rowdy and mys a whole lot better. There is nothing smart in bing a "tough." The klds you see now-a-days, who are rowdies who g t drunk and swear make the fillows who in later life Over trining office. BEREA, KY will fill the poor-houses and Jails. They are the ones who have no home, no friends, no money-the ones the policemen tells to move on.

CHARLES D. LEWIS, B. Ped., Professor in Normal Department.

crowd will applaud you a whole lot more when you make a good play and guy you less when you make an error. The gentleman has many friends. The rowdy has none. The rowdy and tough come to a premature old age of want and privation. The gentleman ilves long and walks in pleasunt places with friends to help him over the rough spots. Be a gentlemin because there is money in it. He a gentionian because it will pay you dividends when about everything else is below par. Be a gentleman because in the wind-up it will bring flowers to your bier and culogies to your mentory.

Young man, follow not in the footsteps of the loafer, and make no example of him who is born tired, for verily I say unto you his business is overstocked. The seats are all taken Jan, 8.—Geo. Robinson's house was and the whittling places are all oc-
